SOUTH CAROLINA UNITED BANTAMS CORPORATE TRAVEL SPONSORSHIP

SC United Bantams is proud to be part of the Premier Development League (PDL), which provides elite amateur players the ability to train and compete at the highest level during May through July each summer while maintaining collegiate eligibility. The PDL has proven to be an important stepping stone for top professionals now playing throughout the world. Seventy percent of all Major League Soccer draftees (drafted between 2007 and 2016) have played in the PDL. And just last year, 58 players with PDL experience were drafted by MLS clubs.

Excited about our upcoming 2016 season, this year's Bantams roster will be primarily comprised of 20+ elite collegiate soccer players from D-I and D-II colleges from across the U.S., including several former youth players developed within our own club. The team will also feature several players from Europe and South America. Competing in the league's South Atlantic Division, the Bantams will once again seek a top-two finish to qualify for the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup alongside other qualifiers from the MLS, USL and certain other amateur men's soccer leagues operating throughout the U.S. The 2016 Bantams will play Home and Away series against the following divisional opponents – Charlotte Eagles, Carolina Dynamo (Greensboro, NC), South Georgia Tormenta (Statesboro, GA), Peachtree City (Atlanta, GA), Tri-City Otters (Johnson City, TN), Southern West Virginia Kings Warriors (Bluefield, WV) and West Virginia Chaos (Charleston, WV). The Bantams will also once again play host in an exhibition match against the Charleston Battery of the USL here in Columbia.
